

100 College Fencers Set For N.C.A.A. Title Meet

By The Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 22 — Thirty-seven colleges and universities, represented by 100 athletes, are entered in the eighth annual National Collegiate Athletic Association fencing championships to be held at Yale next week-end.

Morning, afternoon and evening competition is slated on Friday, and most of Saturday. Columbia is the defending team champion and a strong favorite to retain its honors.

The institutions to be represented include Buffalo, Syracuse, Chicago, Notre Dame, St. Lawrence, Rutgers, Trinity, Princeton, Texas Tech, Colorado, Penn, Michigan State, St. Peter's, Lehigh, Wayne, Virginia, Wesleyan, Lafayette, C. C. N. Y., Johns Hopkins, Army, Navy, Boston U., Columbia, Harvard, Wisconsin, Stevens, North Carolina, M. I. T., Ohio State, Brooklyn College, N. Y. U., George Washington, Illinois, Haverford and Kentucky.

---

The New York Times

Published: March 23, 1952

Copyright © The New York Times